WALT WHITMAN ON CUSTER

Far from Montana's canyons,
Lands of the wild ravine, the dusky Sioux the lonesome stretch, the silence,
Haply, to-day, a mournful wail—haply a trumpet note for heroes

The battle-bulletin,
The Indian ambuscade—the slaughter and environment,
The cavalry companies fighting to the last—in sternest, coolest heroism,
The fall of Custer and all his officers and men

Continues yet the old old legend of our race,
The loftiest of life upheld by death!
The ancient banner perfectly maintained!
(O lesson opportune—O how I welcome thee!)
As, sitting in dark days,
Lone, sulky, through the time's thick murk looking in vain for light for hope
From unsuspected parts, a fierce and momentary proof,
(The sun there at the center though concealed,
Electric life forever at the center,)
Breaks forth a lightning flash

Thou of the sunny flowing hair, in battle,
I erewhile saw with erect head, pressing ever in front bearing a bright sword in thy hand,
Now ending well the splendid fervor of thy deeds,
(I bring no dirge for it or thee—I bring a glad triumphal sonnet)
There in the far northwest, in struggle charge and sabre-smite,
Desperate and glorious—aye, in defeat most desperate most glorious
After the many battles in which, never yielding up a gun or a color
Leaving behind thee a memory sweet to soldiers,
Thou yieldest up thyself

Terrible Conflict Between a King Snake and a Big Rattler.

A gentleman living at Homansville, in Tintic, has sent to Mr Geo Meears, of Walker Bros & Co a very singular snake, which is attracting large numbers of curious spectators. The gentleman who captured it, and Prof Warner, of Sandy, of all the people who have examined it, are the only persons who claim to know what family of reptiles it belongs, and they pronounce it the "king snake" But we are of the opinion that it is of the genus vipera berus, or common adder

It is some eight or ten inches in length, and as large, perhaps, as a lead pencil, with a black, shiny head, which resembles a small black bean. It is striped with red, white and black stripes encircling the body regularly from the head to the tail The red stripes are a quarter of an inch in width, and between are two black and one white stripes, each, perhaps, an eighth of an inch wide, while the entire surface of the creature is smooth and glossy.

But the feats of strength and prowess claimed for it in battle with other snakes, are most wonderful. The gentleman who captured the reptile relates the circumstances under which the capture was made The captor of this strange specimen of the genus vipera, says he, was in the mountains, some distance from his cabin, a week ago last Monday, when his attention was attracted by a peculiar singing noise, and on casting his eyes about he beheld, not many feet from him, a huge rattlesnake coiled up in readiness to jump, and in a moment after it sprang down the hillside several feet, when it commenced a series of such rapid movements that his eye could scarcely keep track of it. The movements were incessant for several minutes, during which time the snake had seemed to "dance" over several rods of ground, but it finally crawled on to a rock. The witness of these singular antics now first saw the king snake, which he took to be a young one of the other, and thought that what he had just beheld was the process of feeding the juvenile viper. But to his surprise, he next saw the king snake make a spring of nearly ten feet and light upon the rattlesnake, where another series of quick and vigorous movements ensued, lasting several more minutes Hereupon the spectator concluded that it was a battle, and he therefore sat down on a high rock to see the conclusion of the affray

Round after round followed, each more desperate than the last, until an hour had passed, when both belligerents were exhausted, and the rattlesnake appeared to be inclined to crawl out The little one, however, kept up the fight, and finally getting its fangs fastened into its foe's throat, it held on for a few moments, when the rattlesnake died Then the conqueror set to work dragging its dead enemy off the field.

The witness now interfered, and throwing his coat over the king snake, captured it. He then examined the dead rattlesnake, and found a small hole in his throat, that being the only visible wound on it. After tearing off the rattles numbering thirteen and a button, he took them and the king snake home. On reaching his cabin he succeeded in getting the little reptile into a small pickle bottle, which he sent by express to Mr. Meears.

One Thing He Could do.

There was a very wicked Dutchman in West Virginia, who was as superstitious as he was wicked. On this same night, in 1833, he became exceedingly frightened at the fall of meteors, and thinking that the world was coming to an end, hastened to his next neighbor, Haines, to get him to come over and pray with himself and wife, as praying was something the Dutchman did not know how to do. But Haines was badly frightened himself and having all he could do to pray for his own family, and sent to Smith. Smith was likewise engaged, and sent him to Deacon Bolus. Coming to Bolus the Dutchman again failed to get his assistance, and enraged, broke out with: "Vell, den, I goes right home, und go to hell mid der old voman."—[illegible] College Recorder.

—"Vell, sure," said a Centennial restaurant keeper, shrugging his shoulders when a customer from [illegible] demurred to paying one dollar for a cup of coffee and a roll, "de price he may luke large, sat I [illegible]; but, sure, relike [illegible] you [illegible] hafe annuder shance like see [illegible] hundred yearr"

How an Old Continental Soldier Escaped Prison.

Charles M. Lee was a well known criminal lawyer of Rochester, New York He summed up a case with a superfluity of gesture and an affluence of perspiration that would have astonished John Graham in his vehement and melting moods

Lee was defending an old Revolutionary soldier for passing a forged promissory note for some thirty dollars There was hardly the faintest doubt of his guilt, but Lee contrived to get before the jury a fact that the accused was a dare devil of nineteen, was one of the storming party that followed Mad Anthony Wayne in his desperate assault upon Stony Point, and helped to carry the wounded General into the fort during that terrible fight

In summing up, Lee, after getting over the ugly points of the evidence as best he could, undertook to cary the jury by escalade, on the ground of the prisoner's Revolutionary services He described in graphic language the bloody attack on Stony Point, the impetuous valor of Wayne, the daring exploit of his client, and wound up with this stunning interrogatory "Gentlemen of the jury, will you send to State Prison, for passing a contemptible thirty-dollar forged note, an old hero of three score and ten, who, in youth, cheered the heart of his country, in the darkest hour of the Revolution, by storming Stony Point?"

This was a poser The chins of some of the jury quivered, but the foreman, a bluff farmer, put on an air which seemed to say that storming Stony Point was a good thing enough in its line, but what had that to do with passing this forged note?

After being out a couple of hours the jury returned, when the clerk went through with the usual formula "Gentlemen of the jury have you agreed upon a verdict?"

"We have"

"Do you find the prisoner at the bar guilty or not guilty?

"Not guilty, because he stormed Stony Point" thundered the stalwart foreman, who, it was afterward learned, was the last to come to an agreement

The audience applauded, the crier rapped to order, the District Attorney objected to the recording of the verdict, and the Judge sent the jury out again, telling the foreman, in a sharp tone, that they must find an unconditional verdict of guilty or not guilty After an absence of a few minutes they returned, when the foreman rendered the simple verdict of not guilty, adding, however, as he dropped to his seat "It was a good thing, though, Judge for the old revolutionary cuss that he stormed Stony Point"—Unadilla Times

A Good Story.

Some gentlemen who attended the St Louis Convention, last week called upon Governor Hendricks yesterday, at the Execution Department, and time having somewhat mollified their chagrin over the defeat of Indiana's "favorite son," the interview was spiced with several good stories of personal experience and reminiscences of the Convention. The best one told was that of a conversation which took place between a warm friend and advocate of the Governor's and the spokesmen for some Southern delegates aboard the same train and bound for St Louis. The w. f and a aforesaid learned that the strange gentlemen were delegates going to the Convention uninstructed by their State Conventions, and he saw a good opportunity to put in a good word for his candidate Approaching the crowd he asked

"Going to St Louis?"

"Yes, sir, we're on our way there"

"Delegates from the South, I presume?"

"We came from a Southern State"

"Well, now, for whom are you going to vote?"

"We come up here uninstructed and don't know what candidate we shall support."

"Do you know that Tom Hendricks is your man? He is the best friend the South has got"

"You don't say so?" in doubting, hesitating manner.

Yes I do," enthusiastically responded the Indiana orator, "and you fellows ought to go for him He's got a warm spot in his heart for your people, and did all he could for them when they needed friends the most"

"Are you sure of that? How do you know it?"

"Why, I know him all through, have been with him all the time When he was in the Senate the reconstruction measures which were passed to oppress you, and literally deprive you of voice in the State Government, he opposed them on high constitutional grounds, and did all he could to prevent their enactment"

"Is that so? Do you believe he was truly a friend of the South?"

"'Is that so?' Of course it's so Don't records show it."

"Well, if that is so, we can't go for him. We can't afford to support a man who was a friend of ours, for we couldn't elect him in God Almighty's world. He won't do"

And then the enthusiastic Indiana delegate suddenly withdrew, with the impression that he had lost an entire delegation to Hendricks by taking the wrong track. They belonged to that crowd which was howling for Hancock, because his loyality could not questioned —Indianapolis Journal.

Meteors.

The time for the August meteor is approaching, and already prefacing its appearance with some very unusual sights in the heavens. The west has had a great blazing star, and three or four evenings ago one was seen moving over a large portion of this State. Last night at about ten o'clock another was visible in the eastern heavens in New York. At first it looked red, and was apparently about the size of the evening star; it then blazed up, waned, grew bright again, and disappeared. Scientific quidnuncs should explain the connection. if there is one, between the present hot weather and the unusual number of large meteors. It may be that the solar system is now passing through a belt of meteors, and consequently through a portion of inter-stellar space of an unusually high temperature. There is absolutely no guarantee that at any time the whole system may not be hurled into a space with solar temperature and dissipated at once as a fire-mist.—N. Y. Graphic.

—The religious press of Great Britian is unnecessarily alarmed at the introduction of effigies of heathen gods and goddesses, likely to result from the presentation to the Prince of Wales of such effigies as articles of jewelry.

A Knowing Mule.

In Forsyth, one day last week, a gentlemen standing in the street noticed a two mule wagon drive up to one of the stores There was nothing particular in this, but what particularly struck his attention was the fact that the driver—a colored man—had an exceedingly lengthy pair of reins, and was seated in the hindmost part of the wagon When the team stopped the negro cautiously fastened the lines to a standard, got out over the hind wheel, and made a circle of forty or fifty feet to get to the heads of the mules This so excited the gentleman's curiosity that he walked up and asked

"Look here, uncle, you are not crazy, are you?

"Does I look like a crazy nigger, Mars Tom?"

"Well, what in the name of common sense are you cutting up these antics for—walking almost twice around the wagon to get to your mules and sitting on the 'gate' to drive?

The negro looked at the gentleman a moment and burst into an uncontrollable fit of laughter

"What the devil do you mean?"

"Mars Tom, don't you know dat off mule dar? Dat's Mars Tump Ponder's roan mule

"Well, what the mischief is the matter with the mule?

"Why, Mars Tom, dat mule is a sight—dat mule is She's the ongodliest mule in all cra'shum She's got sense like white folks No nigger can't come foolin' round her Only las Chuseday she kick a brass bre's'pin off a town merlatter's shirt bozum Trufe, Mars Tom An de nigger don't know twill now dat he ain't done gone an los it himself I got him home now Why, Mars Tom, when I goes to hitch up dat mule, I has to put de harness on wid a pole, an I has to get a new pole a new pole ebry time Lemme play with powder an Christmas shooters but don't gimme no roan mule' I can't stay wid Mars Tump arter dis week I'm too fon' of my family an' don't b'long to de church nudder —Savannah News

—People who wonder where all the heat has come from should study the following figures which should afford them satisfaction and easement of pain 83 4 foot pounds of heat per second fall upon a square foot of the earth's service exposed to the perpendicular rays of the sun Every second there go out from the sun 3,869 000 foot-pounds of heat, or about 7 000 horse power, making about 604,800,000 horse power per day At the equator a square mile of the earth's surface receives 79,636,750,000,000 foot pounds daily and this amount is only one 1 560,-9 5th part of the quantity of heat conveyed by the Gulf stream from the tropics daily When we look at these figures we feel truly that we should not grumble, for if the Gulf Stream should switch round a little or a hitch happen in the solar system, we might learn what heat really is

"TRIBUNE" MANAGEMENT.

A change has taken place in the management of the OAKLAND DAILY EVENING TRIBUNE—Mr. Wm. E. Dargie having purchased of Mr. Dewes his interest in the capital stock of the company, assumes control of the same with this issue of the paper.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the TRIBUNE PUBLISHING COMPANY, held Saturday afternoon last, Mr. Ben. A. Dewes resigned as President of the Board, and Manager of the paper, and Mr. Dargie was elected to fill these positions for the ensuing year.

As a matter of information to the many patrons of the TRIBUNE, and explanatory to the numerous friends of the retiring Manager, who have noted his absence from business circles for so long a period, it is necessary to remark:—The TRIBUNE was was first issued in February, 1874, by Mr. Dewes, and continued by him, up to the present time with a series of flattering successes seldom attained in journalism — successes which are so well known as to make their recital superfluous. The great care and excessive labor necessary for their achievement have caused Mr. Dewes, after twenty months of uninterrupted application, to be prostrated from sheer exhaustion, and he retired to a bed of suffering because of overwork. This great fatigue and a chronic affection of the heart, have confined him to his bed during the entire eleven months just past; but nevertheless he continued to control and manage the TRIBUNE, and performed daily a large share of the actual work, with all the attendant and perplexing responsibilities of a daily newspaper—the burden of which any one not familiar with the cares of journalism cannot have any conception of. This constant strain upon his depleted strength has prevented convalescence; as tonics and stimulants of all kinds were denied him on account of the affection of his heart, he was compelled to depend solely upon the nourishment derived from food, and the occasional rest afforded by morphine. As Mr. Dewes is a man of wonderful nerve and pluck, he owes his life to-day, in part, to his indomitable will and persistency—his powers of endurance proving almost incredible.

As the manifold duties, the continued connection with the TRIBUNE imposed, prevented Mr. Dewes from obtaining that retirement, rest and quiet his health demanded, in justice to himself and family, he has disposed of his interest in and severed his connection with the paper. It is now more than probable, should nothing unusual occur, that he will with this great relief and freedom from all responsibilities and excitements, and with proper care and rest, rapidly recover and soon greet his friends on the street.

Mr. Dargie is a graduate of the San Francisco Bulletin, and is strongly endorsed as worthy of public confidence. He will give his entire attention to the TRIBUNE, and supply the need of personal executive management. He will at once, and from time to time, make the necessary improvements in the TRIBUNE, and perform all that may be required for the best interests of the paper, and the progress of the city, and will endeavor to keep up with the spirit of the times in all particulars.

OAKLAND'S FUTURE.

THE time is not distant when the extreme limits of Oakland will be Fruit Vale on one side, Berkeley on the other. The track for the steam railroad to the latter place is now laid across San Pablo avenue, and in a few days more the last rail will be laid down. Strangers occasionally remark that there is a great deal of land in Oakland. That may be so. But how many vacant lots will be left when this city has a population of 50,000. The 25,00 or more now cover with their improvements more than half of the area between Fruit Vale, the Bay, and Berkeley. It is not likely that these incoming 25,000 will want less room. Healthy men who go into the suburbs and buy from a half acre up to three or four acres. When they have once made their improvements, most of them will have no land for sale. Within [illegible] years Oakland will have 50,000 inhabitants. Business will crowd the population back towards the hills. The demand for large lots will be kept up until there are no more in the market. The smaller lots on and near the great thoroughfares in the lower part of the city will all be wanted for business. If it should occur to any one that there is a great deal of vacant land in the suburbs of the city, let it also be noted that there is not a foot more than will be wanted during the next several years according to the present ratio of occupation. After buyers have gone beyond Temescal, nearly all of them demand at least one acre for a homestead. A lot with fifty feet [illegible] in the central part of the city, [illegible] little as most buyers are content to take. The usual size of lots [illegible] for homesteads is nearly three [illegible] than in San Francisco. [illegible] the Oakland side of [illegible] room. CALIFORNIA IN THE NATIONAL CANVASS.

The two parties are busy in making preparations for the more active work of the campaign. The "ratification" meetings have already been held, and both parties appear to be well pleased with their candidates. The Republicans are more than satisfied. If there had been any just cause for dissatisfaction, the Independent element which is largely Republican, would have organized a third party. They demanded guarantees of reform, and got them in the character of the nominees. The nominations therefore, have brought about complete harmony. That powerful and growing element which would not have been contented with the nomination of Grant, Blaine, Concklin, or Morton, is content with Hayes. There is nothing in his record which they will be called on to defend or excuse. In fact, his record will go far toward securing a triumph. The Republicans are therefore in good condition. Their old strength will be brought out in this canvass. Having recovered the Independent element, the two parties will face each other with the lines as sharply drawn as at any time since the Rebellion.

It cannot be denied that Gov. Tilden, the Democratic nominee, is a man of high character, and large experience in the management of public affairs. Yet his nomination was received by Democrats with none of that enthusiasm which was shown by the Republicans for Hayes. The nomination of the latter has tended strongly to harmony. It has closed up the ranks of the party and made it a unity. The nomination of Tilden has not tended to harmony in his party. It is well known that there is a wide difference in the views of Tilden and Hendricks on the currency question, and that this difference has kept back the formal letter of acceptance of the latter. Moreover, this disagreement runs through the whole party and reaches out to other questions. There are War Democrats who consider the result of that great issue a finality. There is another and larger section which accept nothing as settled, or want to try old issues over again. This lack of positive coherence and union within the party is a sign of weakness. But it will not do to count upon it as a certain evidence of defeat. The Democratic family is famous for internal troubles. There is frequently a great deal of pounding followed by a good deal of unity at the polls.

If the Republicans triumph in this canvass it will be done by hard work. It is easy enough to predict success. Every sanguine voter can do that. In California it will be a close contest. There was formerly a majority of from 8,000 to 10,000 Republican. In the last State canvass the Republicans and Independents did not cast an aggregate vote as large as that of the Democrats. It has been said that a great many Republicans went clean over to the Democrats, and many also of the former did not vote at all. If the Republicans are now numerically the strongest in this State, that majority could be lost by mismanagement or apathy, or it might possibly be increased in a contest with a keen competior. Majorities of 8,000 and 10,000 are lost and won at almost every general election. After calling out all the "reserves" the Republicans will find the party now in power in this State close upon them in the coming canvass.

THE ferry-boat Capital makes the trip from wharf to wharf in thirty minutes. That is about an average performance in a good stage of water. More time is taken when the tide is well down. At top high water the trip could be made by this boat in about twenty-five minutes. For the present, we suppose the average trip will be thirty minutes. The time taken by the other route from Market street to Broadway station is about forty-five minutes. Were both boats to start at the same time, passengers by the creek route would be landed at the foot of Broadway fifteen minutes in advance of the landing of passengers, by the other route at the Broadway station. On a fine day an excursion trip by the creek boat is one of the most agreeable to be had on the Bay. The lower deck of the great steamer is usually covered with vehicles; but the large side cabins and the spacious promenade deck afford abundant room for passengers.

Hung With a Rope.

Yesterday morning an individual dressed in a tolerably good suit of clothes, with neatly polished boots and on his head a black cap, which was drawn over his face, was found suspended to door knob of a Chinese store, corner of Seventh and Franklin streets. Why was the deed done? Was he an old drunk tired of his life, or was he a rioter of the new Chinese agitation? These, and the like questions flitted through the mind of the passer-by. At last some one bolder than the rest, approached and cut him down. When lo! it proved to be a stuffed man, whose entire viscera was composed of straw. What a sell, and a sell, too, without a moral.

Card of Thanks.

To the Independent Order of Odd Fellows at large.—Mrs. Gaus, widow of the late Louis Gaus, desires to tender her heartfelt thanks, for the many kind attentions paid to her husband and self during his long months of suffering. And more especially would she tender her gratitude to Fountain Lodge, No. 198, I. O. O. F., and to the Oakland Rebekah Degree Lodge, No. 16, for their many kind attentions, both before and after the death of her beloved husband, in saving her so many cares in conducting his funeral, and the many kind attentions paid to her in this her hour of trial and grief. COUNTY LICENSES.

Money Due the County—Business Men in Arrears—A Suggestion.

The county licenses for traders, stores, hotels, and saloon keepers, are considerably delinquent in several sections of the county, especially so in Murray and Eden townships. Many business firms have not paid county licenses for a long series of months, and some have not done so for years.

NO ONE'S FAULT.

This is not because of any fault of the County Treasurer, who is the official tax collector in the premises, for the law only requires him to collect taxes at his office, and makes no provision for him or any other official to travel through the county to collect these licenses.

THE TREASURER FULFILLS HIS DUTY

When he notifies parties that they are in arrears. He has done so to all whom he has any information of; but there are numbers of persons in business of which he knows nothing. As a general thing the parties so notified from various causes neglect and seek to avoid payment of licenses, and thus this revenue never reaches the county's treasury. It is estimated that there is now due the county nearly

THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS

For these licenses and no way to collect the same. The law provides that the District Attorney shall prosecute all persons conducting business without a license, but it would be unfair to commence suits against all parties delinquent, simply because the county does not provide that which every well regulated business firm does—

A COLLECTOR OF ITS DUES.

We would suggest to the Board of Supervisors that some competent person be appointed and empowered by it to travel throughout the county, collect this money, issue licenses, and report to the District Attorney all persons refusing to take out licenses and who are conducting business unlicensed. And that the District Attorney proceed against all so reported according to law.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Short Meeting—Time for Assessment Extended, etc.

At an adjourned meeting of the Board this morning. Present—Shattuck, (in the Chair) Alviso, Burnham, Overacker, Pumyea and Deputy Clerk Eben C. Farley.

After the reading and approval of the minutes of the last meeting, the Board of Supervisors adjourned till this afternoon.

The Board then met as a Board of Equalization. A letter was read from the Secretary of the State Board of Equalization, enclosing the following order:

OFFICE OF STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION, SACRAMENTO, July 19, 1876.

An application from the Board of Supervisors of Alameda county, asking for an extension of the time within which they, sitting as a Board of Equalization should complete the work of equalizing the assessment of property in said county, being on file and duly considered by the Board, it is ordered that said Board of Equalization of said Alameda county, do have until the 17th day of August, A. D. 1876, to equalize the assessment of property of said county.

Certified to be a correct copy of the original order.

F. B. HOGEBOOM, Sec'y.

The above order was directed to be spread in full in the minutes of this Board.

REDUCTION OF ASSESSMENTS.

P. Catanick and A. D. Splivalo made application for reduction of assessment on their property. Application was taken under advisement.

The Board adjourned.

First Congregational Church.

Mr. McLean will be absent three months and during his stay will visit the principal Eastern cities. Since his advent in Oakland, Mr. McLean has accomplished much good and his many friends will hear with satisfaction of his safe return. Rev. Mr. Munger, of San Jose, will officiate in the interval.

Races at Oakland Trotting Park.

The Summer trotting meeting at the Oakland Trotting Park will begin to-morrow, and continue until Saturday. The purses that have been put up are valuable, and the number of entries large. Special trains will leave the Oakland Trotting Park station, on the Berkely branch, at the conclusion of each day's racing. Excursion tickets will be issued.

Cubic Air.

At the meeting of the City Council this evening an effort will be made to reconsider the late vote on the cubic air ordinance which was intended to apply to our Chinese dwellings. We really don't see why Chinese should be allowed to poison themselves by bad air in Oakland any more than in San Francisco. If such negligence will spread disease in San Francisco it will do the same here.

Inglewood.

The Inglewood estate, a handsome piece of well-improved property of thirty acres, near St. Helena, was sold by auction at the Sheriff's office, Saturday, on a foreclosure of mortgage issued by P. H. Summer to the National Gold and Trust Company of San Francisco, by whom it was bid off at $6,550 53—the only bid.

Fine Rig at Auction.

Lully & Sons, Auctioneers, will sell at auction on Wednesday morning, commencing at 11 o'clock, at their salesroom, 301 Twelfth street, one fine double-seated rockaway, two double robes, one set double harness made by Zinkham in New York, at the cost of $1,000. Will be sold regardless of cost or reserve. Also one fine phaeton, one saddle horse, furniture, carpet, bedding, crockery, china and glassware.

The Republicans soldiers and sailors of Oakland met in the City Council Chamber Saturday night for the purpose of effecting an organization. Captain E. B. A communication was received from the West Oakland Republican Club requesting the Committee to call primaries.

A. W. Bishop, Mr. Ellsworth, of Alameda, Mr. Jacob Price, Mr. W. H. Friend and Mr. Davidson addressed the meeting in support of the proposition, stating that their constituents were almost unanimously in favor of primaries. A petition signed by upwards of one thousand citizens was also presented.

A motion setting forth the advisability of calling primaries was then passed, Messrs. Porter and Mason voting "no."

A motion to call a primary election, be held on Saturday, August 5th, for the election of one hundred and one delegates to a County Convention, to be held in Oakland, Monday, Aug. 7th, was subsequently adopted, the delelates to be apportioned according to the votes polled for Phelps and Bidwell at the last election.

The Secretary was instructed to make the proper call and the Committee adjourned.

PLEASANTON ITEMS.

[From the Enterprise.]

Harvest has now fairly begun and some threshing has been done, but very little grain has been brought to the warehouse yet. So far it is rumored that grain is not yielding so much to the acre as formerly anticipated.

Some very fine Durham cattle were received here last week by Mr. Baldwin, of San Ramon Valley. They were imported from Massachusetts, and cost something over $300 per head, delivered here.

A little son of Mr. George Foscalina has a pair of Cashmere goats which drives in harness to a small wagon. They are both gentle and useful, and look as though they could be trained to make fine time on a race track.

It is rumored that several weddings are on the tapis. But we have not yet ascertained what bachelors are to be "snatched bald headed" this time. It is to be hoped that "we will all be dar" when the happy days come round.

Mr. J. A. Bilz, who was so severely kicked by a horse week before last, is slowly recovering, and is now out of danger. His many friends will no doubt be glad to hear this, as he is a man we could not lose without leaving a large space vacant.

Mr. Joseph Nevis' new store building is fast approaching completion. It will be finished about the first of August, and the new store will be moved in about that time. This building, when finished, will be one of the largest in town, and will be quite an addition to Main street.

Unhitched Horses.

A great many of the runaways that occur in Oakland, and we presume elsewhere, occur through the carelessness of those in charge of the animals. Yesterday we saw two runaways—one was a saddle horse and the other a horse and buggy. Fortunately they were captured without doing serious injury, but in both cases the animals were left in front of doors unhitched. This is not only carelessness but in one sense criminal. Both grown up persons and children are often run over and maimed or killed by these runaways. In some cities there is a law compelling the hitching of horses, we don't know whether there is an ordiance of that kind in force in Oakland, but certain it is that but few persons ever hitch their animals upon leaving them in the streets. There is no animal so gentle that will not sometimes take fright, and for the good of the owners and the general public we should like to see all persons securely fasten their animals when they are compelled to leave them in our streets.

Shocking Accident on Long Wharf

A shocking accident occurred at the Oakland Wharf yesterday afternoon, by which a man named Michaels wrs terribly, if not fatally, mangled. He was engaged in fishing in the ferry slip as the steamer Oakland entered the slip from San Francisco at half-past three o'clock. The boat pressing against the piles drove them together, and, as Michaels was sitting on one of the piles, his two legs were crushed and frightfully mangled. He was carried off in an insensible condition for surgical treatmen, and it is very doubtful if he survives the injuries sustained. Michaels is the proprietor of a second-hand furniture store on Dupon street, San Francisco.

The Sea Wall.

We are informed that there are about two hundred Chinamen employed on the Oakland Harbor improvements where they are assisting to build the sea wall. The contractor is Henry F. Williams of San Francisco. There are a large number of idle white workmen in San Francisco. Where are the anti-coolie organizations?

MacMahon Guards.

There will be a grand picnic on Sunday, July 30th, at Badger's Park, of the MacMahon Guards, escorted by Lafayette and Shields Guards, Blythe's full band will disourse the sweetest of music. The gathering will doubless be one of the largest and best held this season.

SEWING MACHINES ON THE INSTALLMENT Plan, at Schellhaas', Eleventh street.

THERE ARE MANY AGREABLE peculiarities in the climate of Oakland, among which may be noted the fact that any matrimonial unions that have not been prolific of "little darlings" elsewhere, have, on the removal of the parties to Oakland been blessed with a "quiver full of them," as is demonstrated by the number of high chairs, cradles, etc., sold by Shellhaas, Eleventh street, Odd Fellows' Building.

DOUBLE SEATED SWING FOR sale, Eleventh street Furniture Store.

PATENT FOLDING BED AND Book Case at Schellhaas' Eleventh street.

"JOLLY GIANT" LIBEL.

Thistleton's Apology Through His Attorney—He is Held to Answer.

George Thistleton, of the Jolly Giant, was called for preliminary examination in the San Francisco Police Court Saturday, upon a charge of having published a libel of and concerning H. Tubbs of this city and his family. After the complainant had given his testimony, G. W. Tyler, counsel for the accused, said: "Your Honor, to shorten the caste, I will waive any further examination, and I am bound to say, in justice to the plaintiff and his family, that my own daughter is an intimate friend of this young lady. I also know her and we know that there is not a more chaste and virtuous girl in the State of California. I would use any effort to discover or assist in discovering, the author of the infamous rumor against her. But my client published it and I regret the fact. He published it as a mere rumor, without any malice toward the plaintiff or any member of the family."

Mr. Tubbs and his counsel denied the proposition of want of malice, and referred to the fact that libelous references and cuts were published in the Jolly Giant after the first libelous article and illustration.

Thistleton was held to answer before the Grand Jury, with bail set at $3,000.

BLUETT & FARNDON, PHOTOGRAPHERS, 1157 Broadway, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, formerly Dunham & Lathrop. Pictures copied and enlarged, and finished in oil, ink, or water colors. For No. 12, give one tap, pause a moment and then two taps; for 13, one tap, pause and then three taps and so on, up to No. 16. To give the alarm, pull down the hook inside the box—one pull—the box does the work. Following is the location of boxes and keys.

REDUCTION IN GAS.

Important to Landlords and Gas Consumers.

SAFETY AND ECONOMY.

OFFICE OAKLAND GASLIGHT CO., February 1, 1876.

IN PURSUANCE OF THE POLICY followed by this Company since its formation, viz.: to lower the rates as rapidly as warranted by the growth of the city, the price of gas will be reduced on the

1st Day of March Next

—TO—

$4 25 PER 1,000 CUBIC FEET.

Considering the value of coal and labor, the limited use of gas, and the distance between the places of consumption,

Oakland will be the most cheaply lighted city in the Union.

This price will leave no valid excuse for the use of any illuminant but Coal Gas, along the lines of the Company's mains, a large part of which are now, and have been since they were laid, unproductive of income.

The advantages to be reaped by the public from Cheap Gas are—

1st.—A daily saving in the cost of one of the necessaries of life.

2d.—A decrease in the number of [illegible] fires caused by the use of the volatile distillates of Petroleum.

3d.—A saving of human life by substituting stationary lights for brittle lamps.

4th.—The most convenient and safest light brought within the means of the most economical household.

However small the house, the economy will be great. If insured, the rate of premium will be lessened; if not insured, the risk of loss will be decreased.

This reduction can only be profitable to the Company, by the accession of a sufficient number of new consumers to compensate for the lessening of the current receipts; and it will become the interest of all consumers of gas, to induce their neighbors to adopt this light, in order that further reductions may be made in the future.

The attention of consumers is also directed to the use of gas for heating and cooking. In Europe and the Eastern cities it has been adopted to a great extent, and its use is constantly extending.

It is to be hoped that this movement will be accepted in the spirit which has inspired it, and which has always characterized the Company, viz.:

That the Interests of Consumers and the Company are Identical.

The Company are constantly advised of all changes in modes of manufacture and distribution, and will at all times avail itself of any real improvements which tend to improve quality and lessen price.

MRS. H. A. MOORE'S

Scientific Hair Producer

No. 914 Market St.; or, No. 11 Ellis St., S. F.

MRS H A MOORE WOULD ANNOUNCE TO LADIES AND GENTLEMEN WHO DESIRE the personal adornment of a fine suit of hair that she has opened parlors for its express treatment. They are emphatically assured she possesses the skill to produce a full flowing crop of hair on all stages of baldness. A few treatments will convince the most skeptical. This is no exaggeration. No mineral or damaging substances used. I have in my parlors photographs of well known citizens, exhibiting the contrast before and after treatment, which can be seen by those desiring it. No better evidence can be furnished. When they are seen, doubt vanishes. Preparations sent to all parts of the country. Agencies wanted in all parts of the country.

—Pere Hyacinthe's failure to meet the expectations which he excited a few years ago has been more evident by his recent visit to England. Mr. Conway, in a letter from London, comments on the fact as follows: "In truth the good father has been a disappointment not only to those who invited him to Geneva, but to lookers on, who anticipated a sort of religious revolution from his going there. It was believed that he meant to be the exponent of some new religious idea, and it has been a serious disappointment to find that his idea of reformation extends no further than the claim that the Catholic priest is entitled to a wife. Between the Protestant and Catholic parties Father Hyacinthe is in the sad condition of the bat in the fable, with which the birds would not associate because of its mouse-like body, nor the mice because of its wings. This is a melancholy, however inevitable outcome for a man who has shown such surprising powers of eloquence and enthusiasm as Father Hyacinthe.

—A man recently died in Zurich who for thirty years made a remarkably big fool of himself. When young he fell in love and then became jealous. While in this condition he offended his sweetheart, who to punish him made him swear that he would not speak for twelve months. He swore. But she died before the twelve months elapsed, and the lover concluded to remain dumb until he rejoined her in the next world. He kept his word, and for thirty years was never heard to speak except when he stepped on a banana peel.

—She lives in Washington Territory, and this Spring she hauled 10,000 feet of rails from the mountains all alone, put seventy-five acres in wheat with a gang plow, prepared a garden, milks regularly seventeen cows twice a day, makes butter once a week, keeps 120 laying hens and disposes of their product, which supplies the family with all their produce, attends to her household like a dutiful wife, and takes care of four interesting young children. This gives her all the rights she wants.

A locomotive without furnace has commenced running in Paris on one of the street railways. It has a reservoir of superheated water which furnishes a constant supply of steam for moving the vehicle. On another line an ordinary steam locomotive is at work. It is like a small omnibus in shape and size, containing a boiler. The furnace is out of sight and fed with coke and charcoal. The draught of the furnace is kept up by a supply of [illegible].

Miss Johnson is a Georgia singer whose voice falls upon her hearers like silver spray upon a sea of molten gold dotted with floating diamonds and precious pearls.

—Every man can make himself useful in the world if only by holding a sunshade over a young lady who is playing croquet.

—Grace Greenwood says she prefers an Indian to a red headed man. Now let us hear from the Indian.—Rochester Democrat.

—The intelligent farmer never waits for something to turn up. He takes a good plow to the ground and turns it up.

—If you think you are too tall to marry an extravagant woman you will soon find yourself short enough.

—An Irish doctor lately sent his bill to a lady as follows: "To curing your husband till he died."

—A bald headed man peddling a hair restorer was the confusing spectacle to Danbury recently.

A Lady on Sleepings Car.

A lady traveler writing about sleeping cars and her experience on the same says: A woman's toilet to be satisfactorily performed demands some other position than prone upon the face. Likewise it is somewhat more agreeable to perform some portions of the toilet unobserved by the multitude. Men either are not burdened with modesty, or they have minds that soar so high above the feminine that they give no thought to the embarrassment attendant upon the method and manner of disrobing one's self in those quarters. A woman carefully extinguishes herself behind the curtains, slyly unloosens the lace, envelops herself decorously in a large water proof, not daring to lay aside her chignon for fear of a surprise, and proceeds to bestow herself away uncomfortable and depressed. The stranger in the bunk above, leisurely divests himself of his outer garments, pulls off boots, loosens suspenders, and bounds into bed with graceful ease, rather enjoying the situation. I think if there could be a ladies car for sleeping and toilet exclusive of gentlemen it would be a great advancement in wayfaring civilization. I thought so this morning especially, when I awoke from uneasy slumbers to find the foot board fallen, and a group of serene browed men gazing smilingly upon my sleeping beauty. Let us have separate cars, good people, and we can ask nothing more of you in the way of luxury and restful ease.
